Two Championship Golf Courses

Featuring 36 holes of pristine golf and immersed in southern elegance and natural beauty, Palmetto Hall Golf & Country Club is a must play for every golfer.

Opened in 1991, the Arthur Hills Course was instantly dubbed a classic by Golf Magazine who rated it, “one of America’s Top 10” new courses. The course is heavily wooded with towering pines and moss-draped oaks and the lush fairways roll past crystalline lakes.

Robert Cupp, Golf World’s former “Architect of the Year”, opened his signature course at Palmetto Hall in 1993, the course draws high praise for its flexibility, sound shot values and impeccable year round conditioning. The stunningly original design tests the better player but accommodates higher handicappers as well.

Our Residents Say it Best

“We have a warm and caring community. New residents are welcome through established channels, and someone is always there to help when needed.”

“We are large enough to have a variety of people from all walks of life, yet small enough to get to know many people with similar ideas and interests”

“Palmetto Hall is a wonderful place to live laugh and love”
